

“The Truth Shall Set You Free”

Part 16

Few people alive today are aware of the impending danger that hovers over the world. This series is a composite of segments that are best understood within the larger scope of history, and not fully grasped apart from the whole of what is being shared. The reason I believe that comprehension is related to one’s appreciation for history coupled with the element of one’s age. I do not expect younger folks to fathom what faces their future. For the most part, history is lightly touched on in school, if it is taught at all and it is generally not accurate or truthful history. Where we are today can often be understood by examining the underpinnings of how we got here and who the key players were.

Frankly, very few in the Christian community will grasp it any better than the secular “Me generation” that stands to be the victims of the onrushing One World Government. They will be willing to trade their privacy for security, and for the most part they will be unable to spot anything wrong with what the Bible calls the “Mark of the Beast”. To help frame what is becoming a threat to humanity’s existence and survival, I have included some recent remarks of F. William Engdahl, a strategic risk consultant, author, lecturer and contributor to the Global Research.com website that is based in Canada. The remarks that follow appeared on the geopolitical site, ‘Near Eastern Outlook’ a scholarly site that deals with international politics and relations.

The title of F. William Engdahl’s ‘NEO’ piece is “Vatican, Bilderberg and a ‘Migration’ Crisis”. It was posted on December 17, 2016, and it speaks to the larger issue of the Islamic invasion of Europe and America. This is far more ominous for the world because Islam is a movement of conquest and conquering; it has nothing to do with assimilation into the countries wherever it spreads. It is not interested in the culture of the host nations receiving the hordes of Muslims flooding communities all over America. While they settled close to one another as they sought their individual dreams, previous groups from European nations that came to America, desired to identify with the American culture. The invasion of Islam today is a threat to the very existence of Western Christian culture, for it does not allow for competing religious political views. Islam is both an integrated religious political culture.

I have included F. William Engdahl’s remarks to provide background so that the reader can gain a perspective of what the world will be dealing with in the near future.

“The annual meeting of the secretive Bilderberg Group took place this year in Dresden, Germany from June 9-12. Notable is their terminology in an official press release announcing topics for discussion. Point three (not necessarily in terms of importance) is curiously titled “Europe: migration, growth, reform, vision, unity.” Curious is the choice of the word “migration” for the EU refugee crisis that began in Spring, 2015 as Turkey opened the detention centers and refugee camps from Syrian war refugees and pointed them to the E.U. More about that later on. Here I want to concentrate on the little-known historical ties or links between the Bilderberg Meetings, founded in 1954, and the Vatican, and the role of both in heating up the current EU refugee instability.”

“In May, 1954 in Oosterbeek, near to the German border, a highly secret meeting was held at the Hotel de Bilderberg. The meeting was hosted by Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, husband of Queen Juliana. It was called simply, “Bilderberg Conference,” from the name of the hotel where the first talks were held. Out of three days of private discussion, a new Trans-Atlantic think-tank was created. It was to become one of the most effective organizations for influencing world events after 1954 up to the present, and one of the most damaging and secretive.”

“German-born Prince Bernhard was a controversial figure, a notorious philanderer, who had been a member of the German NSDAP and Reiter SS. In 1976 Bernhard was accused of accepting a $1 million bribe from the US fighter aircraft maker, Lockheed, to influence jet purchases by the Dutch Air Force. When Bernhard was forced to resign because of the scandals, he was succeeded as Bilderberg Chairman by then German Bundespräsident, Walter Scheel, and then afterwards by Britain’s Lord Carrington, a confidante and later business partner of Henry Kissinger. From the beginning it was clear Bilderberg was not the Little League of world politics.”

“In 2014 the Bilderberg Group’s official website, with sparse information, stated its purpose as simply to, “foster dialogue between Europe and North America.” It adds that it meets once a year with around 120 select attendees from finance, politics, industry, media and academia. Its rules mandate that two-thirds come from Europe and the remainder from the USA and Canada, with one third of the total always from the world of politics. Bilderberg participants from the US are always members of the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR).”

“The Bilderberg Group, in the words of the first Bilderberg Secretary General, a shadowy and enormously influential Polish exile, Joseph Retinger, came from an initiative Retinger made in 1952 to counter, “growing distrust of America which was making itself manifest in Western Europe and which was paralleled by a similar distrust of Western Europe in America.” In brief, its aim was to make certain that the strategic policy orientation of Western Europe and of the United States was in harmony. The decisive question to be asked was harmony in pursuit of which and whose geopolitical goals?”

“Joseph Retinger was one of the most influential political figures shaping the pro-Atlanticist architecture of post-World War II Western Europe. He founded the Strasbourg-based Council of Europe, to lobby for the Washington-backed plan for creation of a United States of Europe, today called the European Union. He created the CIA-funded European Movement, as well as the CIA-funded European Youth Campaign. By far his most influential project was bringing the Bilderberg Group into being, and serving as its key European director and Secretary General, all far away from the public eye, as he preferred.”

“At the time his Bilderberg project took form the Korean War was ending and US Marshall Plan aid to Europe as well. Józef Hieronim Retinger had spent the war years in London as adviser to the exile government of Prime Minister General Wladyslaw Sikorski. While Retinger's name was virtually unknown to the world at large, he was one of the most influential string-pullers of the postwar period in Europe and the United States. He was able to get private audiences with the Pope as well as the American President at will. It was he who selected Prince Bernhard to act as figurehead host and who selected which Americans and which Europeans would be invited to Bilderberg."

"The American Steering Committee for the first Bilderberg Meeting in 1954 consisted of USA chairman Joseph E. Johnson, president of the Rockefeller-tied Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Others included George Ball, who during the Second World War was in London serving as director of the Strategic Bombing Survey, to analyze the impact of British and American bombing of German cities and civilian populations."

"The American Bilderberg Steering Committee also included H. J. Heinz II, of the food group and father-in-law of John Kerry's current wife; George Nebolsine, a State Department consultant on the Marshall Plan; and Dean Rusk, then President of the Rockefeller Foundation, later Secretary of State."

"The real guiding hand behind the American side of the Bilderberg Group, however, was the first head of the newly-established Central Intelligence Agency, General Walter Bedell Smith. In 1950 Smith became Director of the CIA. The CIA helped organize, and sponsored the formation, and operation of the Bilderberg Conferences."

"In late 1952, Retinger went to America to test his Bilderberg idea on his American contacts, where he met with Averell Harriman, David Rockefeller, and Bedell Smith, then director of the CIA. After Retinger explained his proposal, Smith reportedly said, "Why the hell didn't you come to me in the first place?" The CIA chief then told Retinger to go to C. D. Jackson, who was about to become President Eisenhower's Special Assistant for Psychological Warfare, and Eisenhower's liaison between the Pentagon and CIA."

"The attendees at the 1954 initial Bilderberg Meeting included David Rockefeller, who today is the only Bilderberg "Advisory Group" Member. It included State Department official, Paul Nitze. As well, Gardner Cowles, US media baron and founder of 'Look' magazine, who had been the US Government deputy director of the Office of War Information, the US propaganda ministry that created the Voice of America (VOA). It included J.P. Morgan Bank director Nelson D. Jay, a close Rockefeller associate."

"The first Bilderberg attendees also included C.D. Jackson, by then Eisenhower's architect of the Cold War; Alcide de Gasperi, Italian Prime Minister; and Antoine Pinay, a former French Prime Minister. Pinay was to become, the decisive personality shaping the long-term agenda of Bilderberg."

"In Retinger's words he founded Bilderberg Group simply to, "foster dialogue between Europe and North America." That was for public consumption. In reality he built a very dark agenda that drew in the most reactionary circles in postwar Europe and tied them to the most powerful of postwar American oligarch families, that of Rockefeller, Harriman and their emerging "American Century." The Bilderberg Group was to insure that that Century would be heavily influenced by postwar Vatican geopolitics. Its first meeting in 1954 was funded by Walter Bedell Smith's CIA, with subsequent meetings financed by the CIA's close ally during the Cold War, the Ford Foundation."

The CIA works for the Vatican, despite that it was introduced by President Harry Truman. It quickly expanded its purpose well beyond President Truman or other government officials. We have seen how in recent days it has been exercising a role in attempt to overthrow the president-elect Donald Trump, certainly outside of its original role to gather intelligence relative to national security of United States. Many refer to it as the 'Catholic Intelligence Agency' because its Directors nearly always come from the ranks of the Jesuits, Knights of Malta, and Roman Catholic Institution ties. A Protestant Director of the CIA is unheard of and so the connections with the Vatican become suspect with the passing of time. The common denominator linking the Vatican with the CIA came as a result of their staunch anti-communist stance. The Vatican has wanted to overthrow the Russian government for decades, going back to the days long before WWI.

Jesuits were supported by Empress Catherine the Great, a patron of learning, who welcomed exiled Jesuits to Russia in 1773 after their expulsion from other parts of Europe. The order of dissolution was delayed in the Russian Empire until long after her death, when the Society had been reinstated in other places. Under pressure from the Russian Orthodox Church, Tsar Alexander I exiled the Jesuits in 1820. In 1826 Jesuits marched out of St. Petersburg and their colleges were confiscated. Tsar Alexander I and the Royal Monarch would not see the end of the Society of Jesus. The Jesuits instituted payback with the Bolshevik Revolution in 1913. The Vatican has wanted to eliminate the Russian Orthodox Church for centuries.

The Jesuits entered Russia from the very beginning seeking to overthrow the Orthodox Church and annex that great country to the Spanish empire. Tsar Alexander I was one of Russia's greatest Tsars....He is known in history as the conqueror of Napoleon Bonaparte. On June 22, 1941 – exactly 129 years from the invasion of Napoleon, three million German troops attacked the Soviet Union, breaking the non-aggression pact Hitler had concluded with Stalin two years earlier. This invasion, called Operation Barbarossa, seized huge amounts of territory, including the Baltic States, Belarus, and Ukraine. The swastika and skull and bones are all Jesuit symbols. Hitler had a Jesuit in his ancestry because his grandmother, Maria Anna Schicklgruber, was raped while working in the Rothschild castle in Austria.

"The key to the extraordinary power and influence of the annual Bilderberg Meetings from 1954 laid in the unpublished role of the secretive pan-Europeanist organization then known as 'Le Cercle', sometimes referred to as Cercle Pinay, a reference to the pivotal role in shaping Bilderberg played by the network of French Prime Minister Antoine Pinay, an intimate friend of Bilderberg founder Retinger.

“Pinay’s Le Cercle (The Group) was the link that covertly tied most European intelligence services including the German BND and BfV, MI-6 in Britain, France’s SDECE, Holland’s BVD, Belgium’s Surete de l’Etat and Swiss and later even Saudi intelligence and apartheid South Africa’s secret service, BOSS. Prominent politicians associated with Pinay and Le Cercle included Franz Josef Strauss, Otto von Habsburg, Konrad Adenauer, Julio Andreotti of Italy, General Antonio de Spínola of Portugal, a conservative who went on later to become President; Margaret Thatcher and Ronald Reagan.”

“Antoine Pinay’s group, Le Cercle, in turn was tied as well to the powerful and very right-wing Roman Catholic lay organization, Opus Dei, which had just been given final Catholic Church official approval in 1950, two years before plans for Bilderberg began, by Pope Pius XII. The organization was made well known, to its discomfort, as a subject of the 2003 Dan Brown historical novel, ‘Da Vinci Code’.”

“Among the later achievements of Le Cercle was the manipulation of the 1979 British elections that successfully brought in anti-labor right-wing Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher. It was done with Le Cercle leading members, Sir Brian Crozier, MI-6 head Sir Arthur Franks, and MI-6 division head, Nicholas Elliott.” “The late Bavarian political czar, Franz Josef Strauss, “The Lion of Bavaria,” noted in his memoirs that he had held a friendship with Le Cercle’s Antoine Pinay since the two first met in 1953. Le Cercle networks in Germany promoted Strauss’ candidacy, unsuccessfully, to become German Chancellor. In 1955 Strauss also became a regular member of the Bilderberg Meetings. Bilderberg founder, Josef Retinger, a Polish-born Roman Catholic, organized his European network of the Bilderberg through the mediation of an Italian CIA asset, Prof. Luigi Gedda, head of Azione Cattolica. Gedda was also medical adviser to Pope Pius XII, a very strong right-wing anti-communist pontiff, who before the Second World War, as Cardinal Eugenio Giovanni Pacelli, had been architect of the 1933 Reichskonkordat with Hitler’s Nazi Party. Already in 1932 Pacelli as Vatican Secretary of State had played a key role in convincing Roman Catholic German Chancellor Franz von Papen to steer his Catholic Center Party into an anti-left alliance and join with the NSDAP of Hitler.”

“As Pope, Pius XII had a clear political bias and it was towards support of clerical or nominally Roman Catholic fascist or extremely repressive right-wing regimes, a form of what some termed clerical fascism, the fusion of the Church with fascist or dictatorial political regimes, such as in Franco’s Spain or Spínola’s Portugal.”

“During the Second World War Pius XII refused to condemn the clerical fascist pro-Hitler regime of Roman Catholic Ante Pavelić, the leader of the newly proclaimed Croatian state. Informed by Catholic clergy of the genocidal murders of Orthodox Serbs who had refused to embrace the Catholic faith, Pius XII, even though he possessed a list of Croatian clergy members who had “joined in the slaughter,” did not condemn the Pavelić regime or take action against the clergy involved. Instead he elevated Aloysius Stepinac—a Croatian archbishop convicted of collaborating with the Ustaše—to Cardinal.”

“In effect, Retinger’s European Bilderberg networks linked the extreme right-wing European anti-communist networks—including the Vatican of Pius XII, of Opus Dei, of the Franco government in Spain, of Portugal’s General Spínola and numerous other right-wing European anti-communist networks—to the triumphant American elites around the powerful Rockefeller group, through the networks and person of David Rockefeller. It was a power marriage that was to have a profound effect on the development of postwar European society and politics.”

“Now against this background of Bilderberg true history, the question to be asked is whether the first Jesuit Pope in history, Francis, is following in the heavy footsteps of Pius XII? Is he deliberately trying to stir things up in Europe through his support of the huge influx of war refugees from Syria and North Africa in the past year?”

“Words are an essential form of human communication, quite complex in the energy they convey to others. Depending on the word and its context, it can convey negative energy, hate energy; it can convey neutral energy, neither here nor there; it can also convey love, harmony, peace energy. If there is any organized group on the face of this Earth that is master of such word use precision it is the Society of Jesus, Pope Francis’ mother organization. This is relevant in reading his numerous missives on the population disruptions of the Middle East and Africa and the EU in the past three years.”

“There are three words being loosely thrown about today in regard to the EU crisis, and crisis it is. There is the word, “refugee,” legally defined as “a person who has been forced to leave their country in order to escape war, persecution, or natural disaster.” Then there is the related term, “asylum-seeker” defined as “a person who has left their home country as a political refugee and is seeking asylum in another.” Third there is the entirely different concept behind the word used both by Pope Francis and by the 2016 Bilderberg Meeting in Dresden, namely the word “migrant.” Migrant is precisely defined as “a person who moves from one place to another in order to find work or better living conditions.” Here there is no mention of war, political persecution or life-endangering calamity.”

“By calling it what it clearly is not, a migration into the EU from the south, the word completely blunts the causes behind that migration, namely a US-UK-France-instigated series of wars, wars for control of oil and now gas, wars in Libya, Egypt, Tunisia, Syria, initially called by Hillary Clinton the Arab Spring. The million-plus human beings streaming into the EU from Turkey over the past fifteen months are no migrants. They are refugees from wars.”

“In calling them migrants it implicitly makes either racist or bigot anyone questioning the legal procedures employed by the Merkel government and the German Federal Office for Migration and Refugees (BAMF). According to reliable investigative reports conveyed to this author, the German Bundesamt für Migration und Flüchtlinge (BAMF) since November 2014 has abandoned the rules and legal directives for refugees (not asylum seekers) for no public reason and without any notice to the public.” Interesting!

"In a Papal Message of January 17, 2016, the Pope declared, "In our time, migration is growing worldwide...Migration movements are now a structural reality, and our primary issue must be to deal with the present emergency phase by providing programs which address the causes of migration and the changes it entails, including its effect on the makeup of societies and peoples." He goes on, "Biblical revelation urges us to welcome the stranger; it tells us that in so doing, we open our doors to God, and that in the faces of others we see the face of Christ himself." What if that stranger wants to kill you and to rape your daughters?"

"Nice words these are indeed. It ignores entirely the actual disruptive reality of the flood of war refugees into Germany and the rest of the EU. Rather than to focus his immense influence on bringing about peace and reconciliation of all domestic parties in Syria and condemning the terrorism of ISIS, Al Qaeda/Al-Nusra Front and the others destroying one of the oldest cultures in the world, a poly-religious one, Francis chooses to tell Europeans to open their hearts and even homes to the "migrants." In this context, as I noted at the start, it is highly significant that this year's Dresden Bilderberg Meeting referred in their discussion to "Migration" not Refugee Crisis. It appears both the Pope and Bilderberg planners are singing from the same sheet of music on this at least."

"On January 6, in his message on the feast of Epiphany, the same Pope released a Papal video in which he called for creating a one world religion in effect: "Many think differently, feel differently, seeking God or meeting God in different ways. In this crowd, in this range of religions, there is only one certainty that we have for all: we are all children of God."

"Some days later, January 11, 2016 in an address to the Vatican diplomatic corps, Francis insisted that Europe has the means to absorb migrants without sacrificing its security or culture. He criticized the distinction made by the international community between refugees fleeing persecution and those fleeing poverty, referring to "the grave crisis of migration which we are facing." He condemned various EU national attempts to find their own national solutions to this crisis of migration: "...there is no place for autonomous solutions pursued by individual states, since the consequences of the decisions made by each inevitably have repercussions on the entire international community. Indeed, migrations, more than ever before, will play a pivotal role in the future of our world."

"Unlike Francis, I firmly believe that borders DO matter, that national autonomy, like individual autonomy, does matter, is in fact, an essential component of our existence, our individual sovereignty our national sovereignty. We human beings are unique individuals every one. We are not some amorphous blob with no individuality. These differences are sacred in my view. Not according to the words of the Jesuit Pope. Our world with all its wars and deep disturbances is not at the state of nirvana which Pope Francis would like us to believe where peace and Christian charity overcome every obstacle. It well may be in the future but to pretend it already is belies in my view a hidden agenda."

"David Rockefeller is an open partisan of a one world order where he and his ilk would sit atop all mankind, a disgusting idea. For such a one economic world, we must dissolve national borders. This, the Trans-Atlantic Trade and Investment Partnership is designed to do in large part, if, that is, EU leaders are suicidal enough to agree. Then to control an entire world, it needs a synthetic new religion. The forced refugee crisis is designed to blur national borders and historical ethnic or national culture. There is far more behind all the nice speeches of the Pope and the talks of Bilderberg than we are being told. It's not without reason that the word "Jesuitical" in ordinary usage means "one using subtle or oversubtle reasoning; crafty; sly; intriguing." Even with the death of David Rockefeller on March 20, 2017, nothing has changed.

If we smell precisely the stench of the totality of steps taken in NATO countries in recent months, especially in the United States and the European Union, we can smell the stench of totalitarian rule or some would call it, fascism, being quietly imposed on our basic human freedoms. Some recent examples give pause for reflection as to where we are allowing our world to drift.

Let's begin with a most ominous, bizarre, Jesuitical interview that the Roman Catholic Pope Francis gave to a Belgian paper December 7, comparing what he calls defamatory news to what he called the "sickness of coprophagia." He stated:

QUESTION – "A final question, Holy Father, regarding the media: a consideration regarding the means of communication..."

POPE – "The communications media have a very great responsibility...It is obvious that, given that we are all sinners, also the media can...become harmful... They can be tempted by calumny, and therefore used to slander, to sully people, especially in the world of politics. They can be used as a means of defamation: every person has the right to a good reputation, but perhaps in their previous life, or ten years ago, they had a problem with justice, or a problem in their family life, and bringing this to light is serious and harmful... This is a sin and it is harmful. A thing that can do great damage to the information media is disinformation: that is, faced with any situation, saying only a part of the truth, and not the rest. This is disinformation...Disinformation is probably the greatest damage that the media can do, as opinion is guided in one direction, neglecting the other part of the truth. I believe that the media should...not fall prey – without offence, please – to the sickness of coprophilia, which is always wanting to communicate scandal...And since people have a tendency towards the sickness of coprophagia, it can do great harm."

Coprophilia is defined in the Merriam-Webster dictionary as "marked interest in excrement, especially the use of feces or filth for sexual excitement." And coprophagia is eating feces by humans, literally, eating shit.

What people precisely, Holy Father, have a "tendency towards the sickness of coprophagia"? Is this the dominant sickness of the human race? And if not, why do you make such a disgusting likeness between eating shit and citizens who read about politicians and their misdeeds or media that report on same? And who is to judge if factually true dissemination of facts about political figures from their past is relevant or not to help voters judge their character? I would say the comments are a perfect example of what he pretends to condemn.

Were it only a single, off-the-cuff remark by a religious figure, we could dismiss it along with claims such as the papal infallibility declaration proclaimed by the Vatican I on 18 July 1870. However, precisely because of such dogma and of the influence of the Roman Catholic Church and its Pope, notably in the countries of Western Europe, the United States and Latin America, such vague and dangerous remarks ought to be taken seriously as a signal of what lies ahead for the public freedom of speech.

The papal comments on coprophagia and journalism come amid an explosion of charges in the USA and EU that Russia is planting “fake news” as it is now being called, about Hillary Clinton in the US media by way of certain alternative media. Robby Mook, Hillary Clinton’s former campaign manager, said “fake news” was a “huge problem” the campaign faced in the recent US election: “I still think we have to investigate what happened with Russia here. We cannot have foreign, and I would say foreign aggressors here, intervening in our elections. The Russians were propagating fake news through Facebook and other outlets, but look, we also had...Breitbart News, which was notorious for peddling stories like these: Online stories that claimed a Washington D.C. pizza restaurant, Comet Ping Pong, was used by candidate Hillary Clinton and her campaign manager John Podesta for child sex, the so-called “Pizzagate” Scandal, is now being used to drum up popular opinion for censorship of the Internet as well as Facebook and other social media. Senior New York Times reporter David Sanger wrote a vague, anonymous “according to senior Administration sources,” article on December 9 under the headline, “Russia Hacked Republican Committee but Kept Data, US Concludes.” What we are seeing is precisely the kind of fake news that Hillary Clinton and the Pope talk about. But it is mainstream establishment media doing the fakery.”

The fakery is being orchestrated by the highest levels of the mainstream media in collusion with NATO circles and intelligence agencies such as the CIA, which has saturated the ranks of mainstream media with their disinformation agents according to former CIA head William Colby, who once allegedly said, “The CIA owns everyone of any significance in the major media.” The campaign will continue, likely with some horrendous stories about some psychopath taking a gun and bursting into Comet Ping Pong pizza place shooting innocent customers, because it was said he read fake news in alternative media about the pedophile ring. That already took place, but the man fired no shots. The population is being manipulated to accept extreme censorship of internet and other alternative media, something unimaginable just months ago.

Like clockwork, the “fake news” campaign has spread to the European Union. After announcing she will run again in 2017 for Chancellor, Angela Merkel spoke ominous words suggesting government censorship of independent “populist” (sic) media might be necessary: “Today we have fake sites, bots, trolls — things that regenerate themselves, reinforcing opinions with certain algorithms and we have to learn to deal with them.” She declared, “we must confront this phenomenon and if necessary, regulate it...Populism and political extremes are growing in Western democracies.” Her remarks came after Google and Facebook cut ad revenue off what they declared to be “fake” news sites.

In the EU, especially Germany, the term “populist” has an implicit negative or even fascist connotation as in “right-wing populist” parties who oppose Merkel’s open door to war refugees policies, or these days who oppose almost anything her heavy-handed government puts forward. Now if we begin to see stealth propaganda preparing us to accept severe clampdown on the one remaining free media, the Internet and related social media, we can also see an equally ominous, indeed, totalitarian move to create acceptance for the idea we give up the right to hold paper money, giving private, often corrupt, banks total control over our money, and in turn giving government agencies total control over where we spend it and for what we spend it on.

This is the so-called cashless society. Arguments put forward are that elimination of cash will be more convenient to consumers or that it will eliminate or greatly reduce organized crime and the shadow economy that evades taxation. In the EU, Sweden has already virtually eliminated cash. In Sweden, cash purchases today are down to just three percent of the national economy compared to nine percent in the Eurozone and seven percent in the US. Public buses don’t accept cash. Three of Sweden’s four largest banks are phasing out the manual handling of cash in bank branches. Norway is following the same path.

In France today, it’s now illegal to do cash transactions over €1,000 without documenting it properly. In the wake of the ‘Charlie Hebdo’ attacks, France’s finance minister Michel Sapin, blamed the attacks on the ability of the attackers to “buy dangerous things with cash.” Shortly after the ‘Charlie Hebdo’ attacks he announced capital controls that included the €1,000 cap on cash payments, down from €3,000, to “fight against the use of cash and anonymity in the French economy.” In high-inflation Eurozone €1,000 is not a huge sum.

Even in conservative Germany, a leading member of the Merkel coalition proposed to eliminate the €500 note and capping all cash transactions at €5,000. Some weeks later the European Central Bank, where negative interest rates are the order of the day, announced it would end issuance of €500 notes by December 2018 arguing it made it too easy for criminals and terrorists to act.

As the campaign to sell skeptical citizens on cashless digital bank payments increases in the United States, JP Morgan Chase, the largest and one of the most criminal banks in the US, has a policy restricting the use of cash in selected markets. The bank bans cash payments for credit cards, mortgages, and auto loans; and it prohibits storage of “any cash or coins” in safe deposit boxes. So if you have a rare cold coin collection, you better stuff it in the mattress...

As long as cash bills and coins of a national currency are the basis of the economy, the central banks of the USA and EU as well as Japan, are unable to impose a severe negative interest rate policy much beyond the flirtation today by the ECB and Bank of Japan. If central bank rates were to go very negative, banks would be charging customers absurd charge to make them pay to keep their cash on deposit or in savings at those banks. Naturally, people would revolt and withdraw in cash to invest in gold or other hard, tangible valuables.

Harvard economist and member of the Economic Advisory Panel of the Federal Reserve, Kenneth Rogoff, an advocate of the “war on cash,” noted that the existence of cash “creates the artifact of the zero bound on the nominal interest rate.” In his 2016 book, The Curse of Cash, Rogoff urged the Federal Reserve to phase out the 100-dollar bill, then the 50-dollar bill, then the 20-dollar bill, leaving only smaller denominations in circulation, much like what the mad Modi has just done in India.

Any serious observer of the world economy, especially of NATO nations in Europe and North America since the financial crisis of September 2008, would have to realize the current status quo of zero or negative central bank interest rates to prop up banks and financial markets is not sustainable. Unless cash is eliminated that is.

On April 5, 1933 President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed Executive Order #6102, “forbidding the Hoarding of gold coin, gold bullion, and gold certificates within the continental United States.” That was rightly denounced by many as outright theft, confiscation of privately held gold, by the Government.

Radical solutions such as done by President Roosevelt in 1933, yet in a monetary order where gold no longer dominates, is clearly becoming more attractive to the major bankers of Wall Street and the City of London. Rather than confiscate citizens’ gold, today the Gods of Money would have to find a way to steal the cash of citizens. Moving to their “cashless” banking, limiting how much cash can be withdrawn and then eliminating cash entirely as Swedish banks are doing would enable tax authorities to have perfect totalitarian control on every citizen’s use of money. Moreover, governments could decree, as did FDR, that cash above certain levels must be taxed under some or another national declaration of emergency.

As such bold, radical moves advance, they would of course be vociferously attacked not on CNN or The ‘New York Times’ or ‘Financial Times’ or other mainstream media tied to those criminal financial institutions, but in alternative media. Keep in mind it was the uncritical ‘New York Times’ and ‘Washington Post’ that uncritically retailed the fake news that led to declaration of war on Iraq in 2003, namely that Saddam Hussein had weapons of mass destruction aimed at Washington. That war has spread death and destruction of a scale unimaginable. No one complained at the time about that fake news.

The protest over moves to confiscate citizens’ bank holdings would come through alternate, independent media such as ‘Zero Hedge’ or countless others. Recently, US media uncritically republished a purported list of “fake news” blogs and websites prepared by Assistant Professor of Communications at Merrimack College, Melissa Zimdars. ‘Zero Hedge’ was on it. ‘Zero Hedge’ is one of the most professional news sources on the Internet and used by the economic and financial community.

This is not about endorsing or not endorsing any alternative blog or website. It is about the essential freedom of us all to be able to read and decide any and all opinions or analyses and not to have government decide what I am or am not allowed to read. It's about the freedom to keep privacy about what I choose to buy and not leave a digital trail that my bank could release to the tax authorities or to Homeland Security or the FBI, or sell to profiling consumer operations. Controlling public communication and controlling private money would go a long way to creation of a perfect totalitarian state. This is definitely not a good idea, I would say.

The following information came from a May 15, 2017 report from 'The Common Sense Show', the website of Dave Hodges. Dave Hodges noted that the globalists have determined that the United States of America as we know it is doomed to extinction. Dave's report points out the ominous nature of where globalists are determined to take this country. Be mindful these globalists work from behind the scene to derail the presidency of a populist-elected president.

In a related series "The Beast Empire" you will see who it is that embodies the Biblical Beast Empire. Few people are able to make the connection between the geo-political socio-economic world with the spiritual world. This is chief in my efforts to educate the unaware how Lucifer uses the spiritual realm to manipulate world and local events in his attempt to enslave humanity.

Globalists Have Placed 22 Nation-Ending Crises On America's Doorstep

Nearly 75 percent of the population in Venezuela has lost an average of 19 pounds over the past year because of a lack of food in the midst of the nation's crippling financial crisis.

America has ventured into unprecedented times. Every one of our crises are created by the globalists which in my humble opinion, is intended to collapse our country after plundering it for everything it is worth.

Let's begin the analysis in an obscure place that could have great relevance to our country. We see rioting in the streets in Venezuela over the food lines over the past year. Subsequently the food lines in Venezuela are a sight to behold and remember, that according to FEMA, Americans are only nine meals away, as a nation, from repeating the same exact thing here in America. Please allow me to digress.

We are witnessing history in the making in Venezuela as the military is defecting to join with the beleaguered people.

This could prove highly relevant to our country.

The US military is now conducting military maneuvers right next to Venezuela. Are we preparing to crush this country's new-found spirit of populism?

The situation in Venezuela is critical to understand and it has profound implications for the citizenry inside the United States. America's combat troops largely come from the average, every-day rank and file of the American people. If push comes to shove, many, if not most, will join with the people in a popular uprising and this is being proven in Venezuela as I write this. Our present set of crises which has beset this country is unprecedented. I did a historical search to see if there ever was a time in American history where we had so many crises going on at the same time and the answer is: there has never been a time like this.

The Establishment Has Practiced for the Eventuality That the Military Would Join with the People In a Crisis.

Our veterans are among the harshest critics of the government and the establishment as they understand that entity to be. Last year in Jade Helm 16 (i.e. UWEX 16), ARSOF and conventional military practiced a campaign, at four Texas military bases for countering American military units that had gone rogue and were waging a guerilla war against the establishment.

This was a continuation of Jade Helm 15 in which the extraction of civilian undesirables was conducted. Clearly, the establishment is preparing for massive civilian unrest and the defection of many or most of our troops similar to what we are witnessing in Venezuela. This is why I believe so many of our combat troops are outside the country at this time.

Current List of Globalist Crises Directed at America

In no particular order, here is a partial list of the monumental challenges faced by America:

- War with N. Korea
- War with Syria
- War with Iran
- War with Russia over Syria and Iran
- Involvement in African civil wars
- Sending troops to the border of Russia from Ft. Carson
- Allowing Russian and UN Peacekeepers on American soil
- Allowing Chinese military front groups (eg Cinta) to man the Chinese solar energy farms populated by their disguised military.
- Obama allowing Chinese to take over the Port of Long Beach, thus giving the Chinese a foothold for a land invasion of the United States at a time when America is vulnerable.
- The Oroville Dam is in grave danger and threatens 2.5 million people. A collapse will wipe out the world's largest vegetable crop and second largest rice crop in the world, thus, producing famine conditions. The dam break would shut off 25% of America's retail shipments across the country and would lead to an economic collapse of the retail and food industry. We now know this as "just in time" delivery of critical resources, including medicine, that we have become accustomed to.
- All signs are that the US is preparing to open a new front, most likely under the guise of the UN, in Venezuela in order to stop their new found populism.

- So-called Pedogate is picking up steam and forcing the establishment participants into a desperate situation where any false flag is probable in order to draw attention away from the tightening noose coming out of the Trump administration.
- The national debt is approaching $21 trillion dollars and remember, the US government only takes in $2 trillion dollars per year.
- The unfunded and mandated liabilities (Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, etc.) now amount to a hefty $240 trillion dollar debt.
- We, the United States people, owe the bankers through the bail outs due to the failed credit swap derivatives debt, $1.5 quadrillion.
- The interest alone on the bail-outs is $505 trillion dollars per year.
- Jade Helm 15 practiced hauling off Americans off to concentration camps.
- Most American combat troops and naval personnel are outside the country and would be unable to stand with the people in some created crisis as we are seeing in Venezuela.
- UWEX 16 rehearsed fighting against rogue US military units, standing with the people, who have gone guerilla.
- We live in a country where the President is exercising control over many domestic issues but has not wrestled away control of the Deep State's dominance over foreign policy and the Pentagon. This is the stuff that civil wars are made from.
- The newest 800 pound gorilla in the room is the 'wannacry' ransom virus which is obviously being perpetrated by the NSA/CIA in order to promote global economic instability and possible World War III.
- Because of George Soros' front groups, America has never been more divided.

I could go on, but you get the idea. There has never been a time like this in the history of our country and this is why personal preparation has never been more important.

Conclusion

You, as a citizen should be working for the ousting of all incumbents in Congress in 2018, if we even have that long. Also there are some personal preparations that you should have been making all along. It is never too late to start. A little preparation is better than nothing.

- Convert much of your cash to precious metals
- Food
- Water
- Guns (training as well)
- Ammo
- Stockpile prescriptions as much as you can
- Bible and lots of prayers

As I stated in the beginning, there has never been a time like this in America.

Dave Hodges has adequately summed up the big picture before the United States and how the dark forces of evil work at deconstructing the world's voice of human rights and freedoms. I do believe Bible-believing Christians prepared for and looking forward to the Rapture will be "Delivered" before Judgment upon the world by the God and the forces of Lucifer go into overdrive during the final "Seven" years of Daniel's 70th Week prophecy.

It is important for readers to understand that the global forces at work from the Jesuit-controlled Vatican are focused on one thing, and one thing alone – Totalitarian Collectivism. The Bavarian Illuminati founded by Adam Weishaupt and financed by the House of Rothschild banking dynasty. Satanism gained control over the Vatican June 29, 1963 and has consolidated its power and works through many NGO's or Non-Government Organizations.

Fr. Malachi Martin's accusations

In The Fatima Crusader article, Malachi Martin, a scholar, Vatican insider and best-selling author, said, "Anybody who is acquainted with the state of affairs in the Vatican in the last 35 years is well aware that the prince of darkness has had and still has his surrogates in the court of St. Peter in Rome."

From 1958 until 1964, Jesuit priest Malachi Martin served in Rome where he was a close associate of, and carried out many sensitive missions for the renowned Jesuit Cardinal Augustin Bea and the pope. Released afterwards from his vows of poverty and obedience at his own request (but still a priest), he ultimately moved to New York and became a best-selling writer of fiction and non-fiction.

Martin had first made reference to a diabolic rite held in Rome in his 1990 non-fiction best-seller about geopolitics and the Vatican, The Keys of This Blood, in which he wrote:

"Most frighteningly for [Pope] John Paul [II], he had come up against the irremovable presence of a malign strength in his own Vatican and in certain bishops' chanceries. It was what knowledgeable Churchmen called the 'super force.' Rumors, always difficult to verify, tied its installation to the beginning of Pope Paul VI's reign in 1963. Indeed Paul had alluded somberly to 'the smoke of Satan which has entered the Sanctuary' . . . an oblique reference to an enthronement ceremony by Satanists in the Vatican. Besides, the incidence of Satanic pedophilia—rites and practices— was already documented among certain bishops and priests as widely dispersed as Turin, in Italy, and South Carolina, in the United States. The cultic acts of satanic pedophilia are considered by professionals to be the culmination of the Fallen Archangel's rites." (p. 632)

These allegations have largely gone unnoticed, possibly because he was so crafty in his descriptions that he might even have been referring to the coronation of Pope Paul VI. But he revealed much more about this alleged ritual in one of his last works, Windswept House: A Vatican Novel (1996). In this story, he vividly described a ceremony called "The Enthronement of the Fallen Archangel Lucifer” supposedly held in St. Paul’s Chapel in the Vatican, but linked with concurrent satanic rites here in the U.S., on June 29, 1963, barely a week after the election of Paul VI. In the novel, before he dies, a pope leaves a secret account of the situation on his desk for the next occupant of the throne of Peter, a thinly-disguised John Paul II.

According to ‘The New American’, Martin confirmed that the ceremony did indeed occur as he had described. “Oh yes, it is true; very much so,” the magazine reported him saying. “But the only way I could put that down into print is in novelistic form.”

Martin's accusation of a Satanic ritual at the Vatican was also confirmed by John Loeffler, host of the ‘Steel on Steel’ radio show. Mr. Loeffler personally asked Fr. Malachi Martin (who had been a regular guest on his show) about the reported dedication to Satan within the Vatican:

"You know Malachi confirmed—the first part of his book, ‘Windswept House’ — he confirmed the dedication of the Vatican to Satan in a secret ceremony that occurred unknown even to the Pope at that time that he managed to pick up. And I did ask him, 'Was this true? Did it happen?' And he [Fr. Martin] said, 'yes, it did.'" - John Loeffler (July 29, 2000 radio show)

Fr. Malachi Martin said more members of the clergy are becoming aware of the situation. An archbishop several years ago also accused high members of the hierarchy in Rome of practicing Satanism. The Italian newspaper Il Tempo and other major daily papers reported this stunning news.

Windswept House* -

‘Windswept House’ is a sweeping novel, set on the grand global stage and the unfolding of the next stage of civilization, the ominously-named New World Order. It tackles head-on a number of heavy issues from abortion to the Third Secret of Fatima, but the essential message seems to be this: Satanists lurk in the shadows, from the heart of the Vatican down to the local parishes, manipulating those duped by the false spirit of Vatican II. They are doing their damndest to subvert the Roman Catholic Church.

In ‘Windswept House’, Martin was quite explicit about the conditions in the Vatican, opening the novel with the above-mentioned satanic ritual. In it, Satan was formally enthroned in the Vatican in the Chapel of St. Paul (by all reports a dark and appropriately spooky place). The ceremony was coordinated via telephone with another simultaneous rite in South Carolina.

But these are minor quibbles. Like ‘The Keys of This Blood’, ‘Windswept House’ is written for a wide and not necessarily Catholic audience, but both books give an odd feeling of being intended for John Paul II himself. It’s as if Keys was written to show the Pope that Martin understood what the Pontiff was doing in the geopolitical arena and address his concerns for the Church’s internal situation. (One may be reminded of Machiavelli’s ‘The Prince’, written also by a courtier exiled from court.) ‘Windswept House, however, is a much more dramatic and desperate plea to the Pope.

Totalitarian Collectivism

"The great strength of our Order lies in its concealment; let it never appear in any place in its own name, but always concealed by another name, and another occupation."

-Adam Weishaupt, Founder of the Illuminati.

Shadow Forces Behind Government

Let no man or woman dare speak of a shadow government. The crony corruptocrats that make up the ruling elites of the world must maintain the illusion, that elected governments are based upon willful consent and have the legitimate authority to establish rules of conduct that their citizen are obligated to obey. For those regimes that maintain their grip of power by undemocratic means, the apologists for the international community give a wide berth of acceptance in order to maintain the appearance of individual national sovereignty.

In the essay, There Is No Conspiracy - Only Official Policy provides a study in power politics when a banana republic dares defy the moneychangers.

"The lesson for world leaders is you don't cross the masters of power. But for Americans it is that a world run by the IMF never benefits us, the people. The enactment of the FTAA is just one more element in the grand scheme of global rule. There is no need to dabble in extraordinary theories; it is all in the open for everyone to see. The policy is clear - the nations of the world are mere colonies to the interests of the ruling elites. Citizens of countries and their elected leaders are mere subjects of the international community. Not exactly the revered Republic that we all owe allegiance, is it?"

The pattern of retribution against any tin horn leaders that refuse to succumb to the boot of the World Bank or the IMF is in plain sight. Just ask the mutilated and deceased Muhammad al-Gaddafi for testimony of the enforcement treatment one can expect for opposing the world financial plutocracy. While the imperium empire of drone warfare, targets governments that oppose the global hegemony, the behind the screens discord among varied vying factions often goes unnoticed.

The Constitution Society sees the nature of "The Shadow Government" differently from most popular interpretations of the power elite.

Some of the best indications that the Shadow Government is not centered in the financial sector are the things it has to do to finance itself. Shadow Government is expensive. We can identify the main sources of its revenue:

- (1) Black budgets. This is the core of its operations, but is not enough to secure its control over the country and the world.
- (2) Drug trade. It has seized control of the major part of the illegal traffic in addictive substances, in part by using the organs of law enforcement to eliminate competition, and by gaining control of the money and the ways it gets re-introduced into the economy.
- (3) Raiding financial institutions. This is what was done with the S&Ls, and is being done, more slowly, with the banks. It involves several aspects: diversion of the funds, seizure of smaller institutions by a few large ones under Shadow Government control, with the seizure financed by the taxpayers, and acquisition under distressed prices of the assets of those institutions, many of which are well-positioned business enterprises that give the Shadow Government both control of the key enterprises in most business sectors and sources of revenue. The Savings & Loan raid was used to finance a major expansion of the Shadow Government. However, it is not a method that can be repeated.
- (4) Public authorities. These are quasi-governmental enterprises that control substantial assets, often taxpayer-subsidized, without effective accountability. They include housing, port, energy, water, transportation, and educational authorities. To this might also be added various utilities, and both public and publicly-regulated private monopolies, like local telephone and cable companies. They are also a major source of government contracts.

- (5) Government contracts. Major source of diverted funds, but must often be shared with others involved.
- (6) Arms trade. Another major source of funds, both direct and diverted. But requires payoffs to local officials.

What this viewpoint ignores is that the tactics of subversive operations frequently demand undercover execution and plausible deniability. The methods of covert operations conducted by black bag operatives avoid the question; who really controls the intelligence agencies? It is a fatal error to reject the prevalent role of the money center institutions and central banks in the unified network of financial control and global integration.

A more perceptive breakdown by Richard Boylan Ph.D. offers a structural analysis of the secret "shadow" government.

In the Shadow Government five branches may be identified. These branches are: the Executive Branch, the Intelligence Branch, the War Department, the Weapons Industry Branch, and the Financial Department.

An analysis of the overall purposes of these five branches suggests that the overall purpose of the Shadow Government is to exercise covert control by:

1. Collecting comprehensive institutional and personal information
2. By establishing national and international policy independently of the established Government
3. By developing high-tech arms and equipment, and, with these, establishing small, specialized, highly mobile, elite military units to effect these covert policies, when need arises, without having to rely on the official (and "unreliable") Armed Services, (whose subservience to the Shadow Government is reasonably suspect)
4. By developing an armed capability to repel any threat to the status quo, (including the uncertain ontological, social, and economic impacts of any revelation of the reality of UFO and extraterrestrial presence) through the development of a Star Wars/BMDO ground and space-based surveillance and SDI weapons network
5. By denying information compromising to the Shadow Government from all those outside "need-to-know" policy-making levels
6. By exercising control on the money supply, availability of credit, and the worth of money, through policy decisions made outside of the official Government

The essential political planetary threat that faces humanity is rooted in the globalist drive to accelerate their NWO plans for a neo-colonial feudal hierarchy. The New World Order Feudal Enslavement System outlines the plot. However, the elements that comprise the surreptitious functions and assignments of shadow government missions need to maintain a clandestine secrecy to be effective. Stealth practices often foster perpetual public ignorance.

Contrast this with maybe the best example of the most visible globalist institution that is used by the shadow elites as their private administration tool for worldwide compliance. The John Birch video U.N. and the United States | John F. McManus presents the argument that Americanism is incompatible with the international community of collectivists that the United Nations is based upon.

The interminable public feuding in General Assembly sessions are sheer spectacle for the uninformed. The real dirty work is done behind the scenes through coerced implementation of programs like Agenda 21.

The best way to come out of the shadows is to strip back the curtain. Effectiveness dictates that the banksters and corporatists use the dark art of intrigue and subterfuge to manipulate the systems of governance, which they put in place, to serve their own interests. The destruction of the unique American experiment falls upon the treason of the ruling class. Human Depravity, James Madison, and The Founding Fathers explains the nature of the existential internal threat that destroyed the essence of the old Republic. Madison wrote:

"If we were all like angels, blameless and freely able to exercise perfect control, we would not need rules or regulations. Why, then, do we have so many laws and statutes? Because of man's wickedness, for he is constantly overflowing with evil; this is why a remedy is required."

When the shadow government usurps the stated original limited authorities and separations of powers, the citizens of the country are relegated to a menu entrée on the feasting table of the power elites. The globalism agenda is the objective of the shadow government. Participates need not be spooks or machinates. Those who influence the operations of the sub-rosa establishment may wear the garb of Illuminati or use the signals of secret societies, but most are pure button down internationalists.

The populace is viewed as useless eaters to the elites, who labor to drive a wedge between government and the ordinary man. The privileged oligarchs see themselves as the ennobled in the entitlement enslavement society of their creation. Keeping the masses dependent until the ultimate elimination of dissenters is the objective.

The specter of the shadow government has always been part of the inner conflict for national integrity. The difference at this time is that it is all pervasive. The United States has become a global empire designed to impose an internationalist monitory yoke around the neck of subservient serfs.

The money machine of shadow banking practiced by the Bank for International Settlements on Big Banks is a prime component of the definitive ruling elite comradeship. Governments are no longer sovereign entities. They function as subsidiaries of the global satanic New World Order conglomerate. The crony corruptocrats bury deep their crimes and give new meaning to being above the law. Without a widespread public awakening, the forces of wickedness will triumph.

Lest we forget . . . "For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." -(Ephesians 6:12)
